

Net Art Project Process Book

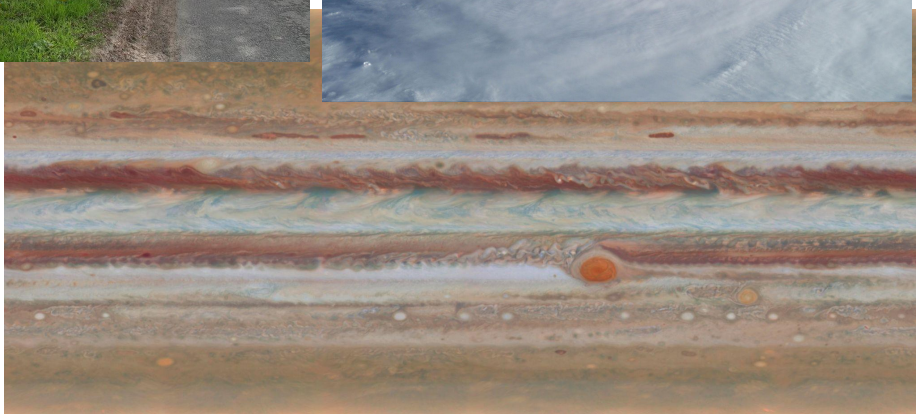

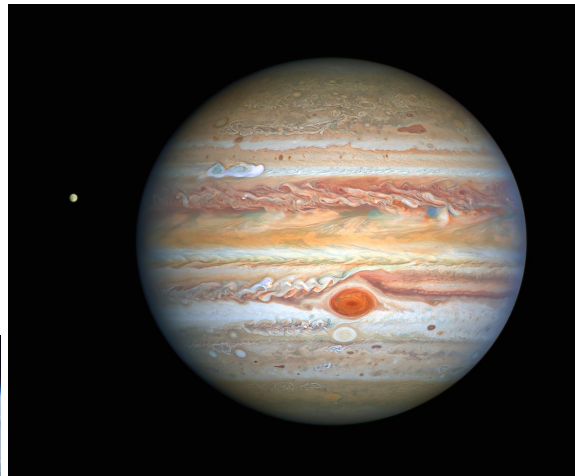

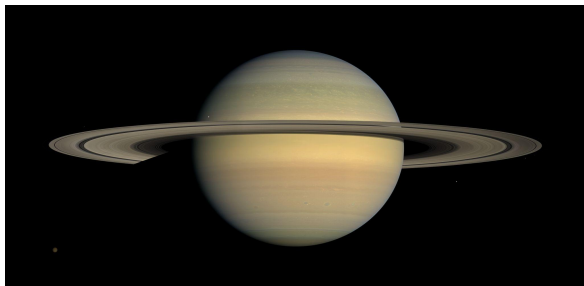

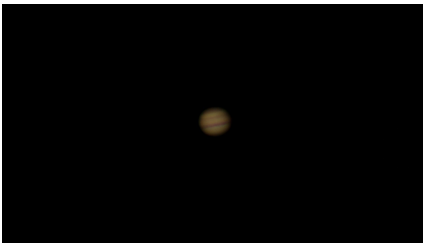

Brandon Wick - Fall 2022

Description

After pulling some words from a list and then randomly sorting them I came up with the following phrase which sets the theme for my net art project.

“The dust is people, scourge, and titanic winds.”

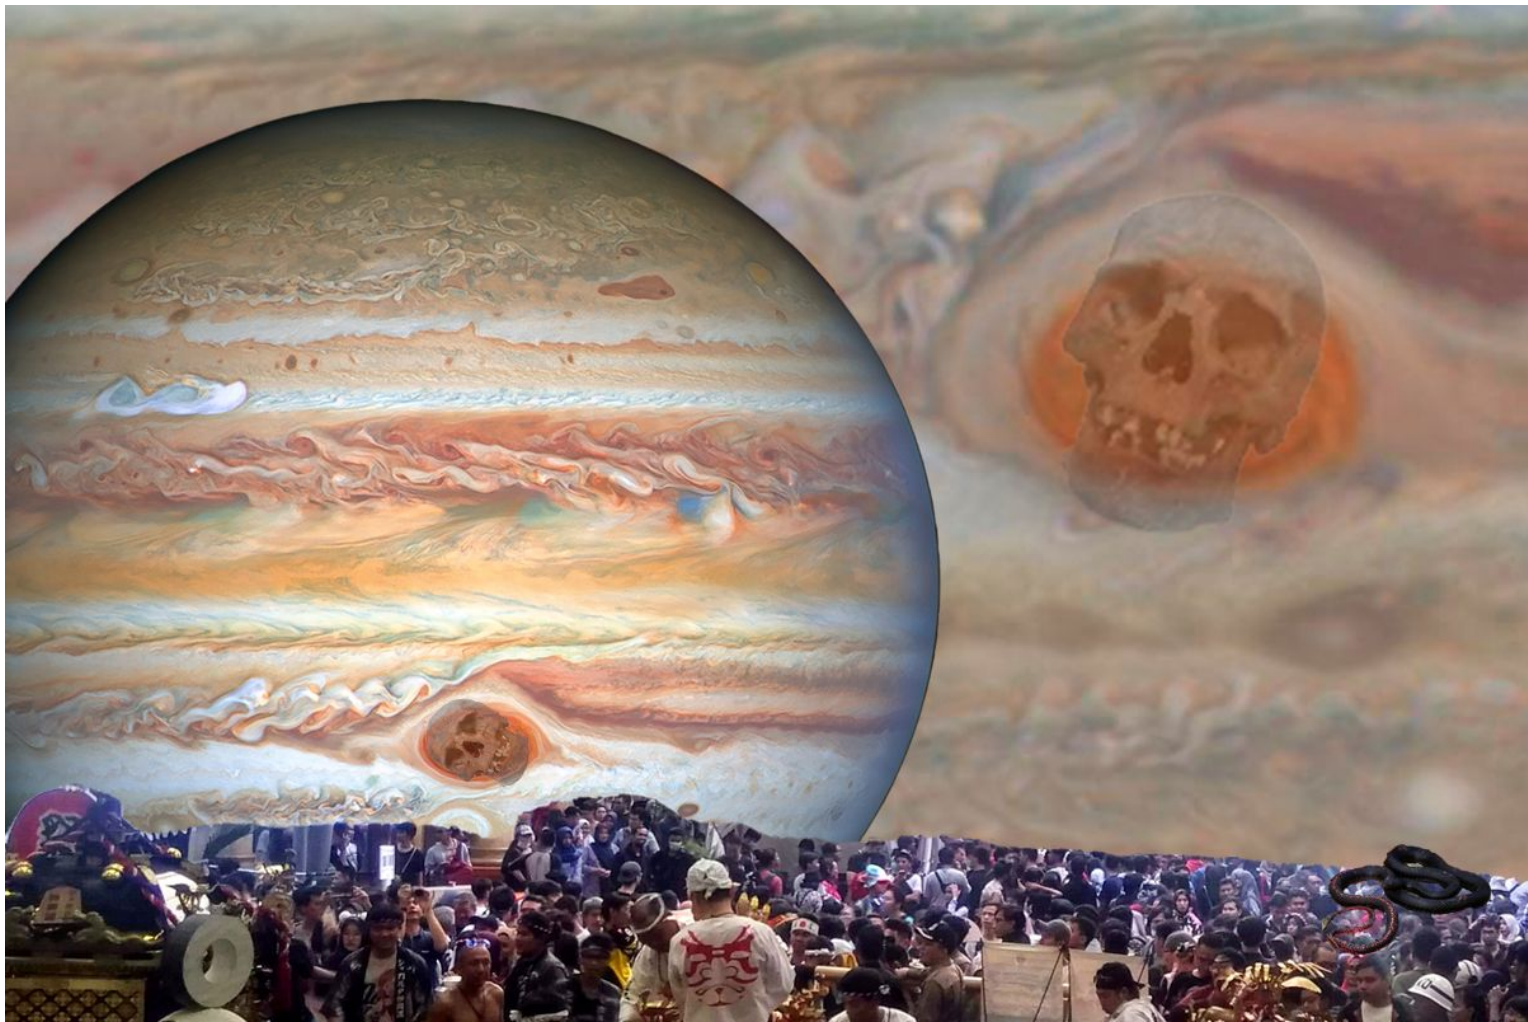

Rough Draft Collages

Final Iteration and Artist Statement

This is a web based art project built up around the prompt “The dust is people, scourge, and titanic winds.” I wasn’t quite sure what to make of it, but there were several images that came to mind. The prompt almost gave me ominous vibes, but I decided to create a more nonsensical, non-linear story with images that came to mind. “Scourge and titanic winds” made me consider powerful forces of nature such as disease and tornados, but even on a larger scale with hurricanes or Jupiter’s big red spot. This also made me think about how humans have harnessed or combatted these natural elements and it’s something I wanted to showcase through this net art, though in a non-serious way.

Citations

Cofield, Calla. “Star Duo Forms ‘Fingerprint’ in Space, NASA’s Webb Finds.” NASA, Oct 12 2022.

<https://www.nasa.gov/feature/jpl/star-duo-forms-fingerprint-in-space-nasa-s-webb-finds>

Editorial Board. “The ransomware threat demands global answers.” The Washington Post, Nov 8 2022.

<https://www.washingtonpost.com/opinions/2022/11/08/ransomware-white-house-global-summit/>

Perry, David. “America isn’t ready for the coming wave of grief.” CNN, Feb 11 2021.

<https://www.cnn.com/2021/02/11/opinions/covid-19-grief-wave-is-coming-perry/index.html>